

Gary Nightingale

Business Illustration

I'm Gary and I'm an artist and illustrator. I help coaches and consultants, trainers, authors, speakers and podcasters connect more with their audience. I do this with cartoon illustrations, comic strips, infographics and other visuals that tell your ideal client's story.

You can use illustration to:

- Increase engagement with your regular social media content
- Strengthen your brand and message on your website
- Attract views of your videos with engaging intro frames
- Brighten up your presentation and webinar visuals
- Clarify abstract concepts in your training and elearning material
- Attract your audience's attention on printed marketing
- Complement your message in your book
- Promote your podcast

What I offer is more than illustration – I take my clients on a creative and collaborative journey and neither of us quite know at the start where it will lead.

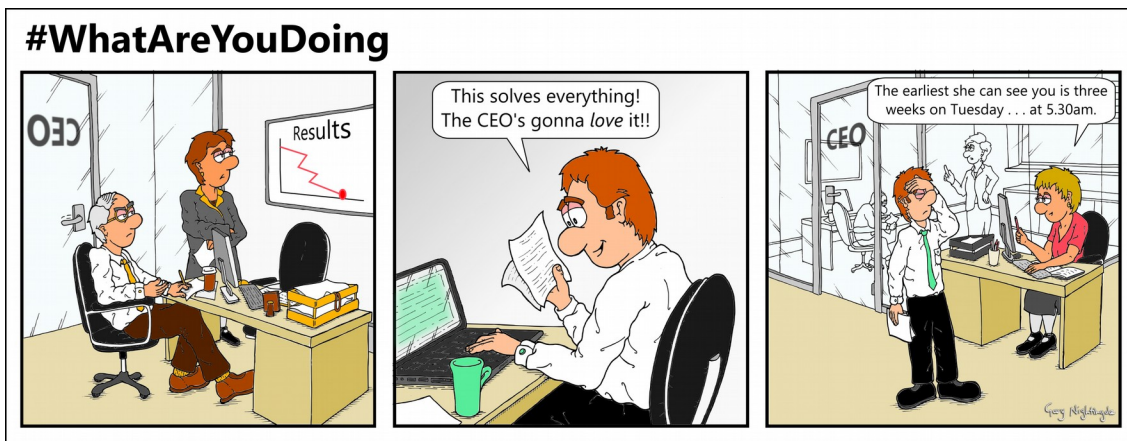

The end result is a set of illustrations that fit you, your business and your audience and help you stand apart from others in your field.

Through our process, you will also gain new insights into your business and into the mindset of your audience.

My recent clients include a neuroscientist, a financial consultant and . . .

. . . an executive coach.

To find out how I can help you connect more with your audience, please get in touch.

07922 556 149

garypnightingale@gmail.com

All the best,
Gary

